

Mandating copy protection in this manner is a bad idea. It won't stop the pirates, and will limit convenience and technological advancements in this area. Any time the Government mandates rules like this, everyone loses.